Notes for Parents / Guardians

The Duke of Edinburgh's Award participants are instructed / assessed by people who have knowledge or expertise in Expedition, Physical Recreation, Services and Skills section of the award.

Instructors and Assessors are not always employed by the Borough; they work for the Duke of Edinburgh's Award on a voluntary basis and may do so only very infrequently. However, Instructors and Assessors do have substantial access to young people and therefore we ask them before they undertake any instruction or assessment to declare whether they have or do not have any criminal convictions, cautions, bind over orders or spent convictions under the Mental Health Act (Section 41), and the nature of them.

We are unable to verify with the Police the information declared to us, as Instructors and Assessors are not one of the specifically mentioned staff (under Home Office guidelines) for which Police will undertake checks. However, we will not admit as an Instructor / Assessor anyone who declares something which, in the context of the protection of children / young people, we consider renders them unsuitable. We would like you to be aware of this before giving you consent.
