We need your help!

The Families Information Service tries to keep this list up to date by writing to all the parent and toddler groups once a year to update their details. However we sometimes find that new groups set up or existing groups change their opening times or even close down without telling us. If you discover that something is wrong on our list or that we are missing the details of a group that you know about, please tell us. We would hate to think of a parent setting off on a cold rainy day to a group that is no longer running!

EnhanceAble Children's Services are here to support you and your family in a wide range of areas surrounding childhood disability and additional need.

What are Parent and Toddler Groups?

- A social group for babies and young children where the parent or carer stays with their child.
- They are often held in church halls and community centres around the borough by volunteers or other parents
- Most only run one session a week so many parents and carers visit two or three regularly
- Some are run as drop-ins but others can be more structured and it may be best to call the group organiser in advance
- Most groups are open to everyone but some may have a focus such as to practice a language.
- They are a great way for new parents or parents new to the area to meet others.
- They also allow young children the confidence to play and mix with other children whilst still having their familiar carer with them.
- Most only open in school term times, but check each group for details.

Registered with Ofsted?

- These groups are not required to be registered with OFSTED because the parent / carer remains with their child or children and is always responsible for them.
- Ofsted only has responsibility to investigate any complaint against a registered group and so would not be involved with any complaint against a Parent Toddler Group.

Costs

- Some are free but most charge 50p to £1.50
- There may be added costs for "extra" activities such as craft sessions or an entertainer's visit.

Questions to ask

- Can I just turn up?
- Is there is a charge?
- Does it include refreshments?
- Do I need to bring anything e.g. a cup or bottle or are they supplied?
- Does the group open in school holidays?
- Will you be expected to contribute in any way i.e. by being on a rota for making drinks, putting toys out or putting them away?

Things to look for

- Are there plenty of clean toys and equipment for children to use?
- Is the premises clean, well-kept and safe for children?
- Is there an area for very young babies?
- Even though you are responsible for watching your child or children it is worth noting if there are gates or "security" in place to stop children escaping.

The following is reproduced from a factsheet prepared by the Child Accident Prevention Trust. Visit their website www.capt.org.uk or contact them on 020 7608 3828 for further advice on child safety.

This is for those who attend a group.

Your Parent and Toddlers Group, or whatever name yours has, offers a number of opportunities to you. It is a place where you can have a conversation other than baby babble, has sympathetic listeners who may have been through similar situations – sleepless nights, screaming sessions (and your baby!) food fads, etc, and is a place for your baby or toddler to meet others. What a sanctuary.

Although your group may be run by other parents & carers everyone attending has a responsibility to contribute to it. The way you behave can affect the safety of other parents and their children.

Accident Alert!

Two particular accidents that injure thousands of pre-school children are:

- burns and scalds - from hot drinks, hot water from kettles, jugs of water for warming baby bottles, hot water in baths

Did you know that a hot drink can badly scald a young child's skin up to 20 MINUTES after it was made?

- falls - down stairs and steps, out of highchairs & pushchairs, from windows

So what can you do?

Over the page are some steps that you can take to ensure that your child and others have a pleasant relaxing time without being hurt.

How you can help keep the Toddler Group a safe place.

The overall safety of equipment, heating lighting and the general safe running of the group will be the responsibility of an organiser/leader and committee. These will probably be parents or carers with their own children attending. However there are some things that you can do.

- if you take a pram or pushchair into the premises make sure it is not blocking a doorway, fire exit, or access to children's activities
- when entering or leaving the building do not leave outside doors open behind you as children may run out
- when arriving or leaving watch out for children who may try to run past you and go outside
- take care of your child on any stairs or steps. Make sure your child is in front of you so that you can help – or catch them if they fall!
- a welcoming cuppa is wonderful, but think carefully where you put it while you wait for it to cool. Do not put it ANYWHERE that a child could reach. Holding a child on your lap and a hot drink in your hand is putting a child at risk of a nasty burn.
- if you have to warm your baby's bottle ensure you do this away from the children to prevent scalds
- if you are helping to make the hot drinks ensure there are no children in the area, or a child on your hip, or baby on your arm while you do this
- if your child has scattered toys about help to clear them up to prevent trips and falls
- check toys and equipment such as tables and chairs that children could climb onto are not next to windows; especially open windows or windows with old thin glass that can easily be fallen through
- if children are put in high chairs or kept in pushchairs check that they are wearing a 5 point harness*
- don't leave your bag open where children can rummage in it
- there will be a no smoking policy for the safety and health of children and adults. Trying to smoke half outside with the door open to keep an eye on your children puts other children at risk of escape. (The smoke blows back in the room too!)
- although the group is there for you to relax remember you are responsible for your own children. Do not expect others to look after them for you

* a 5 point harness is not always supplied with a pushchair or highchair. It can be purchased separately as a set of reins. The set has the harness and a long strap to clip on for walking.

What's on at Kingston Museum This Month..?

Kingston Camera Club

Saturday November 5th – Saturday November 12th

Come and be inspired by photographs from the Kingston Camera Club. An exhibition with popular appeal, high quality work and varied content means there is something to interest everyone. The club was founded in 1893, and is one of the oldest camera clubs in the country. Kingston Camera Club members will be available in the exhibition gallery to answer any questions or warmly welcome new members to the group.

Beastly Machines

Saturday November 19th – Saturday January 14th 2012

A beastly exhibition! Mingle with monsters and hang out with a creature. Derbyshire based artist, Johnny White has created a brand new body of work using the latest pneumatic technology. The work, which is humorous and interactive, looks at the link between human emotions and semantics, portrayed through mythical creatures and animals. An interactive family exhibition, suitable for all ages.

For more information on the Kingston Museum, or other Kingston Heritage Services including the Local History Room and Archive, where you can learn about the history of the local area, please visit our website at: <http://www.kingston.gov.uk/museum.html> or phone 020 8547 5006 (museum) or 020 8547 6738 (local history)
